NEW YORK HAD A RELATIVELY UNIRRIGATED SUNDAY.

Drinks Were Obtainable in Comparatively Few Places-Small Shops Were Compelled to Close.

NEW YORK, April 6 .- The police and the liquor dealers gave Greater New York a "dry" Sunday to-day. Though there were degrees of dryness, so to speak, in different parts of the metropolis, the day has had no equal in the suspension of the liquor traffic since five years ago, when Superintendent Thomas F. Byrnes tightly closed the saloons one memorable Sunday. On that occasion those seeking spirituous refreshments were compelled to resort to places outside of Chief Byrnes's sphere of influence. His task, however, is said to have been easier than that which confronted the police to-day, for he had no to contend with. These hotels must be taken into consideration, therefore, when the word "dry" is used in connection with the events of to-day, for the man who had cash to buy a sandwich and a drink had small difficulty in slaking his thirst. Few liquor dealers had the temerity to keep open and serve drinks alone, and of those who did the majority were invited to visit the nearest police station, there to remain until bondsmen appeared. Unquestionably the dryest part of New . York to-day was that vicinity where last Sunday the "second platoon" of police made so many arrests. This is known as the West Thirty-seventh-street police precinct. Only one alleged violator of the excise laws was found to-day by the lynxeyed officers. Only two or three Raines law hotels opened their doors, and the proprietors saw that the law was closely ob-

In the Tenderloin, now known as the "White Light" district, liquor was sold, but only under conditions which proved drawbacks to many of the thirsty. In many of the saloons the shades were drawn in the barrooms, but it is said that improvised bars were established in upstairs rooms. In a few places the proprietors are alleged to have established what is known as the "Kansas speak easy," or "blind pig," consisting of a circular opening in a wooden partition, into which was fitted a round board arranged so as to swing about. On each side of the round door was a shelf on which the bartender could serve drinks

WASHINGTON, April 6.-The Department of Agriculture has issued a statement the foreign trade of the United States in agricultural products. It shows that during the fiscal year 1901 foreign countries purchased American farm products to the value of $952,000,900, representing the largest agricultural exports in our history. Compared with the record for 1900 they show an increase of over $100,000,000. Our agricultural imports on the other hand dislose a considerable falling off when contrasted with the trade of the year preceding. The various products of agriculture received from foreign sources during 1901 had an aggregate value of only $392,000,000, or $28,000,000 less than in 1900. In the drought stricken section of northern Arkansas there are five counties-Fulton, Randolph, Baxter, Sharp and Izzard-where out of a total population of 60,000 people at least 75 per cent, are said to be utterly destitute. No rain of any consequence has fallen for nearly a year. Minor regetation of all kinds, wild or cultivated, is generally dead and many fruit and forest trees have dried up, root and branch. "Conditions are desperate," said William Wiseman, a prominent Fulton county land owner. "In my county starvation stares fully three-fourths of the 15,000 people in the face. We are a farming people. What would it profit the laborer to exhibit his brawn and his skill if there were no capitalists to give him employment? "The third encyclical to which I shall allude appeared in 1885 and treats of the 'constitution of the Christian states.' In demonstrates that the Catholic Church can adapt herself to all forms of civil government. When I was invited to Rome by the Pope in 1887 to receive the insignia of a cardinal I delievered an address in the Church of Santa Maria, in Trastaver, my titular church, and, as I took this encyclical for the text of my remarks, I cannot do better than to give the following abstract of the sermon which was pronounced on that occasion

'Our Holy Father, Leo XIII, in his lumi-She leavens all with the sacred leaven of the gospel. She has lived under absolute empires, under constitutional monarchies and under free republics, and everywhere she grows and expands. She has often, indeed, been hampered in her divine mission. She has even been forced to struggle for existence wherever despotism has cast its dark shadow, like a plant shut out from the blessed sunlight of heaven. But in the genial atmosphere of liberty she blossoms like the rose. For myself, as a citizen of the United States, and without closing my eves to our short-comings as a nation, sav with a deep sense of pride and gratitude that I belong to a country where the civil government holds over us the aegis of its protection without interfering with us in the legitimate exercise of our sublime mission as ministers of the gospel of Christ. amount, and the proceeds of even that little | and authority without despotism. "I may here remark parenthetically that since our war with Spain, Europe has been impressed with our military power. Yes, our Nation is strong and her strength lies, under the overruling guidance of Providence, in the majesty and supremacy of the law, in the loyalty of her citizens and in the affection of her people for her free institutions. There are, inueed. grave social problems now engaging the earnest attention of the citizens of the United States, but I have no doubt that, with God's blessing, these problems will be solved by the sound judgment and common sense of the American people without violence or revolution or any injury to individual rights.

The cardinal then related a number of incidents which had come under his personal observation during his association with the Pope, tending to show his striking personality, his courtly manner and marked ability as a younger man and the wonderful c.earness of his intellect and excellence of his memory at the present time, in spite of his ninety-three years. he concluded as follows: "I know not whether Providence will spare me to pay homage to other supreme pontiffs, but whether my life is short or long, or whatever may be the future line of Popes sitting in the chair of Peter, I shall always c. erish a special filial affection for and the tenderest memories of Leo XIII."

Nearly all of the foreign governments have unofficially notified the United States government or the world's fair management that it is a physical impossibility for them to be creditably represented at St. Louis in 1903. On the other hand, while the majority of them have accepted for 1903 and will do the best they can, they have informally intimated that if the exposition is postponed they will endeavor to surpass even what they did at Chicago and Paris. As the success of the world's fair as a great international exposition must depend largely on foreign participation, it can be seen that this is a most serious consideration which neither Congress nor the exposition officers can overlook. In short, if the world's fair at St. Louis is postponed it will be done largely in deference to the wishes of foreign nations. Springfield Republican. The pending withdrawal of the United States forces from Cuba is a formality which leaves the essence of occupation and overlordship behind, and those people who profitable. What would it avail a capitalist | are now asking what becomes of the fears to say: 'Behold, this mountain of coal is and predictions that the pledge of independence would never be fulfilled shoot wide of the mark. The pledge was violated by forcing upon the island constitution the Platt amendments, and it remains, violated so long as those amendments stand, no matter what else may now be done, and the Financial Chronicle, of New York, is right when, in summing up the situation, it says that Cuba is in fact a this document the Holy Father clearly ward of the United States, and that "we have certainly not placed Cuba among the nations with a free and unrestrained power to conduct its own affairs." Thus our grip on the island remains after the immediate expression of United States authority is withdrawn, and hence the fears of such annexationists (by force or otherwise) as the Republican Chicago Inter Ocean that in granting the island a nominally independent diplomatic status we shall relax our hold are rather farfetched. They have no solid ground to nous encyclical on the constitution of rest on. "It is high time," cries the Inter Christian states, declares that the church Ocean, "for Washington to decide whether is not committed to any particular form of twe are going to hold on or let go in Cuba civil government. She adapts herself to all. If we are going to let go, then let Congress let go altogether and rescind the Platt amendment. But if we are going to hold on-if we wish to reap the fruits of our victory over Spain and avoid war or shameful retreat from Cuba hereafterthen let Congress limit our representation in Cuba to consular offices."

But never fear. There is no intention of letting go, no intention of cutting the Platt rope which was so deftly and with such plous expression of adhering to the national pledge of independence thrown about the neck of future native government. As for the danger that European governments may assume the independence of Cuba and proceed to negotiate as with a sovereign state for naval stations, etc., which especially alarms this organ of imperial expansion, there is nothing in it. We reserve a veto on that in the Platt amendments, we forbid it and there is no more likelihood that a European nation would fly in the face of such a de- at Anderson with limited trains for Elwood. cree under a ministerial representation of the United States in the Island than under simply a consular representation. The sending of a full-fledged envoy of state as our representative to Cuba will not alter the actual, practical political status of the island a particle, and will deceive no one except those who want to be deceived. Those who see the island slipping away from us in anything that is being done at Washington give evidences of not being able to see at all

THE YOUNGER GENERATION.

The Mistake Russia Is Making in Trying to Suppress It. Boston Journal.

Speaking of the disturbance the Russian students are making, the Pall Mall Gazette remarks: "After all, it is the younger generation knocking at the door, and if the door is not opened it stands a good chance of being kicked in.

The Russian police, in other words, are wrestling with the incorrigible. No doubt the police would sooner deal with Anarchists or Nihilists, whose heads they could batter and whose lives they could shorten without exciting the animosity of any one except the professional King-killer; but the | all their attention to the Manchurian quesgentlemen at St. Petersburg say to the police: "Go ahead! Put down that rebellion!" and the police must either obey or resign. The severity of their task may be under-stood by imagining the police of Cambridge and of New Haven trying to suppress the indignation of the students at Yale and at Harvard-and at Radeliffe, in addition. For we read that the young women of the Russian universities are as eager for reform well in the municipal elections in Kansas just as much in their eagerness.

Spring Medicine

There is no other season when good medicine is so much needed as in the Spring.

The blood is impure, weak and impoverished-a condition indicated by pimples and other eruptions on the face and body, by deficient vitality, loss of appetite, lack of strength, and want of animation.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Make the blood pure, vigorous and rich, create appetite, give vitality, strength and animation, and cure all eruptions. Have the whole family begin to take them today.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has been used in our family for some time, and always with good results. Last spring I was all run down and got a bottle of it, and as usual received great benefit." Miss BEULAR BOYCE, Stowe, Vt.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.
